

HARDING'S RULE IS UNDER TEST TODAY IN OHIO PRIMARY

MANY ISSUES AT STAKE IN ELECTION. WITH LABOR, PROHIBITION AND LIBERALISM PRINCIPAL QUESTIONS BEFORE THE VOTERS.

Columbus, Ohio, Aug. 8.—(By the A. P.)—With prohibition, progressiveism and labor the headlines as issues in Ohio's statewide primary today, political leaders expect a heavy vote to be polled and some close races developed.

Besides nominating candidates for all state offices, excepting auditor, candidates for one seat in the United States senate are to be chosen as well as a full delegation to congress. A complete list of county candidates also are to be nominated.

The outstanding fight in both Republican and Democratic ranks has been that for governor, where nine Republicans and three Democrats are seeking the nomination.

Whether the national administration is to receive the endorsement of Ohio voters will be determined largely in the gubernatorial vote for Carmel A. Thompson of Cleveland, a former United States treasurer, who has been closely identified with the Harding administration. In his race, also, will be determined the effectiveness of the Anti-Saloon league, which has supported Thompson.

The progressive issue has been brought to the fore chiefly through the candidacy of Congressman C. I. Knight of Akron and Daniel W. Williams, Jackson publisher, both of whom were followers of Colonel Roosevelt in 1912. Williams then being the progressive candidate for lieutenant governor.

Secretary of State Harvey C. Smith, one of the nine Republican candidates, is conceded to be a liberal candidate, though declaring for strict law enforcement. He has contended that prohibition is not an issue and is expected to draw considerable support from the dry element, although the Anti-Saloon league has characterized him as wet.

The clear cut wet and dry fight, however, revolves about C. Homer Durand, who is running on a beer and light wine platform. Even dry leaders expect him to poll a heavy vote in the Republican gubernatorial race. J. W. Durnell of Columbus also has advocated restoration of beer and wine. One former soldier, State Senator Arthur H. Day of Cleveland, is seeking the Republican gubernatorial nomination and political leaders are waiting to see how solidly the soldier vote will go to him.

On the Democratic ticket the three candidates, former State Auditor A. V. Donahay, former State Supreme Court Justice James G. Johnson, and Thomas J. Duffy, chairman of the state industrial commission, are expected to run a neck and neck race. All have received the endorsement of the Anti-
